User Terms

The Office of Library and Information Services subscribes hundreds of academic e-resources to all students and faculty members for the academic purpose use. Please observe the following terms:

Systematic downloading or printing of entire journal issues or volumes, or a large portion of database is not permitted.

The licensed materials are for use only by authorized users and may not be distributed or reproduced or used for commercial purposes.

Any unauthorized use is considered copyright infringement and may result in suspension of service.
